

Open Position: Blogger

KPOP-TV is looking for talented and knowledgeable K-pop and K-drama fans who would like to share their love of K-pop and K-drama with our viewers by writing fun and interesting pieces for our website. The ideal candidate would be able to submit one article each week to our team. Your successful efforts will be published on our website along with other articles written and submitted by other team members. This can be a really fun way to support your interest in media and in K-pop or K-drama.

You must possess the following qualities and capabilities:

- Self-Starter
- Team Player
- Flexible Schedule
- Must be experienced with basic communication skills
- You research and develop articles and can write in a style that engages the KPOP-TV audience.

ABOUT US

- On television, KPOP-TV is broadcast on our network in the nation's sixth largest broadcast market in the country and viewed by 2.5 million households. Our programming is all about K-pop, the music, the videos, the culture, fashion, shopping, K-drama, and all things Hallyu.
- We are the only Terrestrial Broadcaster that is exclusively K-pop 24 hours a day.
- Our mission statement is to introduce K-pop entertainment to the US market and to bring a level of understanding of the music and culture as we broadcast in English.

TO APPLY

- Send a cover letter and résumé
- Include a sample article of your blog writing
- Include links to public social media profiles and/or any other online platforms that you use to express yourself

Send your application to Hello@24hrkpop.com with 'Blogger' in the subject line.